Re: Reno-Johnson Rotation Agreement

Dear Mr. Stoecklein,

Please find enclosed a copy of an executed rotation agreement between Lynn Reno and Scott Johnson regarding water rights 34-00470A, 34-00704A and 34-0703A. The Department recognizes the rotation agreement between the respective parties. These rights are diverted from the Upper Fish Hatchery Canal and re-diverted to a shared lateral off the canal. The total combined rate of diversion to the canal point of diversion under the rights is limited to 1.93 cfs. A loss is assigned in delivery of these rights to the canal point of re-diversion by the watermaster or ditch rider pursuant to the Stipulation, Settlement, and Joint Motion for Order (Stipulation) dated October 12, 1999. Irrigation use is limited to the lands described under the rights. The rights must also be beneficially used when diverted. The total combined rate of diversion of all rights appurtenant to the Reno place is 1.96 cfs. However, the additional 0.33 cfs under the Johnson rights, less any assigned losses, may be used at the Reno place during times when the Johnson rights are rotated to the Reno place.

You may contact me directly if you have any additional questions regarding these rights and the rotation. However, I wish to make clear that all concerns or questions regarding use of these rights during the irrigation season should first be addressed to the Water District 34 watermaster. The watermaster will make an initial investigation of any questions and may consult with IDWR if necessary.

Respectfully,

Tim Luke

Water Rotation Agreement

Reno Right No. 34-00470 A.

September 25, 2000

Johnson Right No. 34-00704 A. 34-0703A.

This agreement between Lynn Reno and Scott or Victor Johnson is for the purpose of combining water rights 34-00470 A., right 34-00704 A. and right 34-0703A. for irrigation of lands involved with these rights. Reno shall use the combined right approximately 80% of the irrigation season and Johnson shall use the combined right approximately 17% of the irrigation season. This agreement may be terminated if or when Reno or Johnson feel that the rotation of these water rights are no longer needed.

Lynn Reno

Scott or Victor Johnson
